A little bit about Meg & Molly...

Meg and Molly came to the centre as their previous owner could no longer keep them, they are sweet but shy girls who are looking for a second chance of happiness. They have found themselves homeless through no fault of their own, we would love to see them happy settled in a new loving home. Meg and Molly are looking forward to a life full of new adventures with their new family, they love being out and about and true to spaniel form they whizz along nose to the ground, taking in all the sniffs the countryside has to offer. They are slightly timid when initially meeting new people so their family will need to protect them when out and about, they are quite happy to just keep themselves to themselves, enjoying spending time in the great outdoors with their people. They will then have snuggles and quality time spent with them. Meg and Molly will need adopters who are familiar with nervous dogs and how to understand their insecurities and help them feel safe. They really are a great pair of dogs and will make great additions to the right family. They will need to be the only pets in an adult only home.
